

UPCOMING VIRTUAL BOOK TOUR

We are currently planning a 52 week virtual book tour and are booking stops for the tour. Our tour stops will include blogs, radio programs, book reviews, and podcasts that serve the work at home audience.

Our mission is to provide information, strategies and reasonable expectations to those seeking a work at home career and your mission appears to be similar to ours.

Your Virtual Home Office Can Be a Reality! was released February 15 of 2010. The book offers a wealth of information regarding establishing a home office, handling legal aspects (such as incorporation and zoning), educating family members to respect a virtual home office, and how to avoid the common scams associated with the work at home industry. This book contains 110 pages and 24 chapters of information.

The author, Melissa Rich, is open for interviews and guest appearances. Other options include book reviews, panel discussions, and question-and-answer formats. The author offers a lighthearted, but informative delivery. She is excited about reaching out to aspiring home workers. We are asking for your assistance in protecting home workers and educating them about how to create an effective virtual home office.

Our tour will consist of one virtual stop each week. Each stop will be featured on our website and will include a direct link to your website.

A complete press kit is available for your review, so you can learn more about us. For more information about participating in our exciting upcoming virtual book tour, please do not hesitate to contact Tracy Rumsey at 877-443-5247 extension 31.
