Your Virtual Home Office Can Be a Reality!* Heralds New Voice in Work-at-Home Literature

A seasoned work-at-home entrepreneur helps readers discover their work-at-home potential.

New from Revolutionary-Press.com, author Melissa Rich makes her debut into the world of work-at-home, non-fiction literature. Although new to the publishing arena, Rich is no stranger to the work-at-home world of virtual home offices. Rich has more than 20 years of business experience including accounting, management, operations, sales and marketing and has successfully worked from home for over ten years.

The work-at-home industry is exploding and forever changing business, especially as more employees find themselves laid off, downsized and searching for work. Although working from home may be a viable option to help supplement reduced income, it's difficult to know where to start on the path to legitimate opportunities.

Through her book and her Web site, Rich draws on her years of experience to offer hope and guidance to anyone considering working from their own virtual home office. Rich offers valuable insight and knowledge to help readers decide if working from home is really for them, and how to get started.

Your Virtual Home Office Can Be a Reality! provides a realistic vision and concise, practical information about the work-at-home industry and factors necessary for success. It covers a wide range of topics including required personality traits, evaluating opportunities, setting up your virtual home office and inspirational success stories.

Sol Levine and Linda De Dominicis, managers of the Telecommuting Jobs website, tjobs.com say Rich's book is "summed up with real words of encouragement, tips and experiences right from the mouths of those who are successfully working from home."
